PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

* Madeline Bernstein Stay in step with Madeline. Go to http://spcala.com/president/pres_msg.php to check out her blog, Twitter feed, & more!

As we again come upon the busiest fund-raising season of the year I, again urge you to know your charity and donate locally. We are a generous and empathetic people who react with our hearts when seeing the ravages of an earthquake on the news, or expensive television ads of forlorn children and injured animals. We respond with our purses when celebrities beg for donations and plead with viewers to join them in giving. I do too—but I worry about how often we can be disappointed and develop charity fatigue. I fear for those who still need the help after the compassionate tire of giving.

Bono (from the rock band U2) is under fire after it was revealed that only about 1% of his charity's fifteen million dollars made it to actual causes. Billions of dollars in aid was raised for Haiti and much has yet to find its way to those who are still suffering. In Linda Polman's The Crises Caravan: What's Wrong with Humanitarian Aid?, she laments that needed aid may not reach its intended destination, and, if it does, may land in the wrong hands and make matters worse! And finally, in our business, there are those who still believe that donating to aspca and hsus helps your spcaLA or any other spca or human society. They are neither umbrella organizations, nor connected legally to any other similarly named organization. My issue is that donors should intend to give to these groups rather than do so in error and assume that they are something that they are not. (Both aspca and hsus have been asked to put meaningful disclosures on their commercials and other advertising materials. Both have refused.)

Given that the combination of generosity and disaster can add up to a veritable "candy store" for the unprincipled, greedy and the opportunistic, I am terrified that those who can give, will stop, believing that they are not making a difference or that they have been bamboozled. What will happen to your spcaLA and to those desperately in need of a helping hand?

Rather than souring on giving, research the situation, ask questions and make sure your gift is going to whom and where you so intend. Consider donating to a local organization that you can visit, talk to, and just see in action. Frequently, your local charity may be providing international relief as well or is affiliated with one who is. Bolstering the local charities boosts the local economy, provides jobs, resources and allows the community to thrive. Stronger communities result in stronger cities, states and nations. Our ability to help others improves with our own increased strength and solvency.

Charity begins at home. It is only when we stand strong that we can lift another.

Yours truly,

Madeline Bernstein, spcaLA President

« Joe & his family

Here I am with the kids of my new family! I can tell that they love me very much. I've been to walks along the beach, car rides (which made me a little barfy), and I play a lot in my new backyard! Soon I will learn to swim in my own pool. They can't believe how smart I am. I now can lie down & crawl as well as sit, shake, high-five and "target" (the stuff you guys taught me). Thank you for taking such good care of me while I was there & now I am a really, really happy dog! XO Joe a.k.a. Lucky

Just want to update you on "Pearl" and "Sassy." I'm in love. I can't imagine life without them. And to think I came to adopt only one kitty. I'm so glad you paired up "Sassy" with "Pearl" because they really seemed like a good fit, so I just HAD to take both. Now they are best of friends and we are one big happy family. "Pearl" is now "Sophie" (white) and "Sassy" is now "Phebe." They are hilarious and full of energy. Great health and behavior and of course, I spoil [them] rotten...I can't help it. Thanks for taking amazing care of your animals. I feel so blessed to have them in my life. Shari Gulley

Thank you for inspiring my daughter, Sara. You should see her training and taking care of our new puppy. Having enrolled Sara in the spcaLA Friends for Life Kids Camp has been the best experience for her. Thank you again & keep up the good work! M. Samayoa

YEAR IN REVIEW BY MIRIAM DAVEDDORT

FOOD FOR ALL

For the first time in decades, pet food reserves at spcaLA dwindled at an alarming rate. Corporate donations of pet food were less than 10% of what they were prior to the recession. By January, we were in dire straits.

That's when you came to the rescue. By the carload and truckload, spcaLA supporters donated dog and cat food. Like Deborah Davidson Harpur and her dog, Gigi, who raised 32 tons of Rachel Ray Nutrish food through the Pet Postcard Project, you stepped up.

And, it worked. Your generosity influenced others—your Facebook friends, your neighbors, your colleagues, your families—even pet food companies like Natura Pet Products, Dogswell® and Mars Petcare.

Despite the economic forecast improving, corporate donations of food will not return to pre-recession figures. We still need your helpwhen you buy your pet some food, consider getting a bag for a pet in need, and encourage your friends to do the same.

spcaLA HUMANE OFFICERS TO THE RESCUE

On two separate occasions this year, spcaLA Humane Officers came to the aid of elderly women. What began as their feeding a few neighborhood cats turned into situations wherein neighbors dumped unwanted animals, resulting in over 100 cats between the two. Both women called spcaLA when the care of these animals became more than they could handle.

After rescuing the cats, spcaLA Humane Officers brought the animals back to spcaLA—or to other credible rescue organizations -where they were examined and given veterinary care, spayed or neutered, and placed into adoptions.

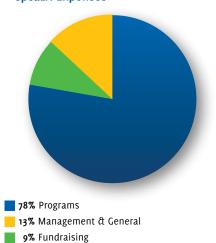

Unfortunately, not everyone can recognize when a situation becomes too much to handle. spcaLA Humane Officers routinely investigate and prosecute animal hoarders: people who take in unusually high numbers of pets without the ability to properly care or house them, while at the same time denying this inability, resulting in animal abuse & neglect. If you suspect animal cruelty, call the spcaLA Cruelty Tipline at (800) 540-SPCA.

CRYSTAL VISION TO PREVENT VIOLENCE

This March, the Employees Community Fund of Boeing California (ECF) bestowed the prestigious Crystal Vision Award on spcaLA.

Given in recognition of spcaLA's international, at-risk youth, violence prevention program, "Teaching Love and Compassion" (TLC), the award was accompanied by a grant that will help spcaLA to continue and expand the program.

HELP US HEAL

In addition to feeding, spaying/ neutering, vaccinating & providing veterinary care to some 5,000 animals every year, spcaLA focuses on the mental needs of our shelter pets. The sad fact is that dogs who bark, jump and pace in their dens or cats that hide, hiss or swat are considered less desirable candidates for adoption. These displays are often results of stress, boredom and lack of positive human interaction.

spcaLA's HEAL (Helping Enhance Animals' Lives) program works to address those issues. Through HEAL, spcaLA's Training and Behavior Department works with staff and volunteers, enabling them to teach shelter dogs and cats basic obedience and manners, in addition to other enrichment activities. With specialized plans for pets in need, spcaLA staff & volunteers take shelter dogs through obedience & specialty classes, and clicker-train cats to help combat shyness. All of this makes our pets less stressed and more adoptable.

HEAL is made possible by your support and a generous grant from The PEDIGREE Foundation.

HOW DO WE DO IT?

spcaLA relies 100% on donations we do not receive a penny of government funding, and there is no national spca or humane society that provides support. Programs and services for the public-spcaLA Marketplaces, Grooming Salon, Pet Hotel, Dog Training, Spring & Summer Children's Camps and Specialty Spay/Neuter Center help to make spcaLA more self-sufficient while strengthening the human-animal bond and reinforcing the importance of being kind to animals. LA

1,028 animals were SPAYED or NEUTERED at the spcaLA Specialty Spay/Neuter Center.

3,639 animals were ADOPTED, reunited with their families or transported to an area of demand from the South Bay Pet Adoption Center and the P.D. Pitchford Companion Animal Village & Education Center.

530 animals were FOSTERED by dedicated volunteers, many of the pets were the motherless "bottle babies" we see each spring, while others were adult dogs and cats in protective custody or in need of some additional TLC.

16 families were able to put their lives back together, thanks to ASN. spcaLA cared for their animals (at no charge) while they fled a domestic violence situation.

375 volunteers donated 48,497 hours of their time: training, socializing & providing other enrichment activities to animals; visiting residents of assisted living and special-care facilities through the Animal Assisted Therapy program and so much more!

26,462 animals were PROTECTED by spcaLA's Law Enforcement Division, as they responded to 1,244 animal cruelty complaints. Cases were resolved through corrective action, education, referral and prosecution.

Over 9,500 people were reached by humane education programs-TLC; spring & summer day camps; Girl Scout workshops & classroom presentations—preventing countless acts of cruelty & making ours a more humane world.

365 people were helped with pet behavior issues via spcaLA's FREE Behavior Helpline.

COVER STORY COVER STORY

AIR CHIHUAHUA

By Miriam Davenport

Los Angeles is all about the trend. What our famous residents tote—like Paris Hilton and Reese Witherspoon—so too does the rest of the city, and soon the nation. The unfortunate fact is what more and more people are toting are dogs, specifically Chihuahuas. These tiny trendsetters are everywhere—by far the most owned breed in the County of Los Angeles (nearly 60,000 are registered to date), and unfortunately, they are quickly becoming one of the most represented breeds in shelters.

Their small stature lends itself to people "sneaking" pets into rental units, animal collecting (and in extreme cases, hoarding) and more, all of which ends one way: too many dogs at places like spcaLA. Over the past several years, spcaLA and other area shelters have noted an increased intake in Chihuahuas—a nearly constant 20% rise every year—while their adoption rates have not risen at such staggering levels.

But, with the help of supporters like you, speaLA is starting a new trend.

What began as a single flight of thirty-five Chihuahuas on New Year's Eve 2009 has turned into a model for the future of animal welfare. Since the inaugural "Air Chihuahua" flight, spcaLA has worked with three humane organizations to send Chihuahuas (and other small dogs) to areas of the country in which they are in high demand. Pets that could have been guests of spcaLA for months were instead adopted within a matter of hours.

Based on the success of "Air Chihuahua," spcaLA has a request for up to 170 more Chihuahuas from the Humane Society of Broward County and Chihuahua rescue groups from as far as New England are calling regularly with similar requests.

Just Business: "[If this were done regularly] the supply of existing homeless pets would be relocated to where the demand existed, thus eradicating the market for those who would abuse animals for profit."

The Jason Debus Heigl Foundation has generously pledged to pay for half of transport costs of "Air Chihuahua"—we need your help with the rest. The fees to transport one Chihuahua range anywhere from $70 to $150, plus the cost of an airplane-safe kennel. Consider making a donation to sponsor one or more Chihuahuas. Drop off a new, small-sized kennel at one of spcaLA's locations. Know someone in the airline industry?

spcaLA has a request for up to 170 more Chihuahuas...from as far as New England...

Every day, spcaLA's guidance and mentoring is asked for in transporting adoptable animals from areas of glut to areas of demand. Looking forward, we are fundraising to close the loop on the Chihuahua boom by providing free spay/neuter surgeries to Chihuahuas (and mixes). spcaLA recognizes that the problem will only be curbed by preventing unwanted litters in tandem with matching supply to demand.

"Air Chihuahua" is just the beginning. Donors like the Jason Debus Heigl Foundation, Dr. Leslie Capin and others have helped make these first four airlifts a reality. Consider what could happen if we expanded the program. Backyard breeders and puppy mills would close for lack of business. More homeless pets would find new families. Euthanasia rates would drop dramatically.

As spcaLA President, Madeline Bernstein said in her January 5, 2010 blog, It's Nothing Personal, Help spcaLA secure flights for less. Want to address the problem at its source? Sponsor a Chihuahua's spay or neuter.

It is within our power to curb the trend of having too many Chihuahuas and not enough homes. We need you to be a trendsetter.

SPCALA AROUND TOWN By Ana Bustilloz

Did you catch spcaLA in the community this year? We were all around town holding Low Cost Vaccine Clinics and adoptions events; attending community fairs, block parties and emergency preparedness meetings; and hosting events to raise awareness and funds for abused and neglected animals. In case you missed us, here's a look at some of the events over the past year. And remember, event listings can be found at www.spcaLA.com.

* Ronnie, the 2009 Hero Dog

SPAY DAY USA

spcaLA participated in Spay Day USA 2010 in a nationwide effort to promote spaying and neutering and curb pet overpopulation. To kick-off the festivities, spcaLA's Specialty Spay/Neuter Center held a vaccine clinic and clients of the clinic and the Center received gift bags filled with goodies for their pets. spcaLA also participated in the Spay Day USA Online Pet Photo Contest. More than $9,000 was raised for spcaLA's spay/ neuter fund to assist in the cost of surgeries for those who qualify. Spay Day USA 2011 is February 23rd and the Specialty Spay/Neuter Center will host a Low Cost Vaccine Clinic on February 19th. Don't forget to enter YOUR pooch or kitty in the online photo contest!

VOLUNTEER APPRECIATION DINNER

The 13th Annual Appreciation Dinner was held at the Ayres Hotel in Hawthorne in April 2010. The dinner and ceremony recognizes outstanding volunteers, employees and businesses whose hard work and dedication enables spcaLA to serve the community. Martine Korach received the Volunteer of the Year award and Julie Prewitt-Douglas was recognized as spcaLA's Employee of the Year. spcaLA also recognized Ralphs, Natura Pet Products, The Sound & Pan Pacific Park as Corporate Supporters. This year's Appreciation dinner was made possible by the generosity of an anonymous donor.

Angeles. The event was covered by the local news media including

ABC, CBS, NBC and Univision.

The 5th Annual spcaLA Mark & Brian Pet Adoption Day was the biggest one yet! Not only were there a dozen vendors giving away advice, information and free pet food samples, Tillman the Skate boarding dog performed! Steve Garvey of the Los Angeles Dodgers signed baseballs and Mark and Brian broadcasted live from the P.D. Pitchford Companion Animal Village in Long Beach. During the event, and the weeks leading up to it, spcaLA found homes for about 280 animals. We've already begun planning for next year's event held in June at the South Bay Pet Adoption Center in Hawthorne. This cat and kitten adoption event was a great success and the South Bay PAC adopted out 19 cats and kittens in one day! Folks came from all over Los Angeles to adopt; some even adopted felines in pairs. Honest Tea supplied refreshing beverages & Natura Pet Products provided free pet food samples to the paloozers. Look for Kittenpalooza coming this June to South Bay!

level! With help from Natural Balance, we presented Bark in the Park at Dodger Stadium, a game that fans could attend with their canine buddy. There was a Pup Rally before the game but the best part was the Pup Parade around the warning track. Fans and players alike really enjoyed the 460 dogs, most in costume parading around the field at Dodger Stadium. The event was a huge success! It was a sell-out and the home team won. The Los Angeles Dodgers donated $4610 from event ticket sales to spcaLA. We've already talked to the Dodgers about Bark in the Park 2011. This is one event you won't want to miss! LA

spcaLA's Animal Assisted Therapy Program

spcaLA is looking for human companion-animal teams to volunteer for our Animal Assisted Therapy (AAT) program.

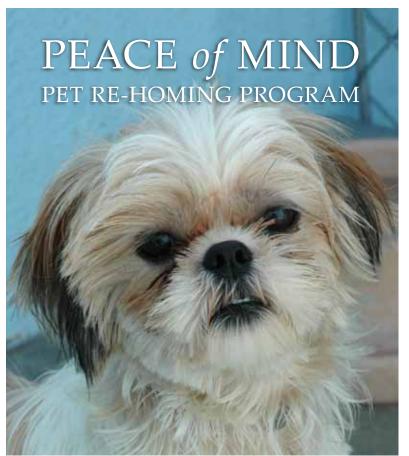

Since 1986, spcaLA's AAT program has trained and certified volunteers and their companion animals to provide comfort and joy to men, women, and children in hospitals, retirement centers, AIDS hospices, and the like. For more information, please contact us at

HAVE ROOM FOR A BIGGER FAMILY?

To give a home to all the shelter animals currently in the United States, every person must adopt 15 dogs & 45 cats. That means a family of 4 would have 240 animals! The easiest way to end animal overpopulation is to spay or neuter your pets.
